Dear Roger:

The ANS will again this year, have an information booth at the ANA Convention in Baltimore. This continues to be an excellent contact opportunity for the Society, providing for communication with current members and encouraging Convention visitors to become better acquainted with the work of our organization.

The booth slide show, which proved popular last year, will be in operation, together with a display of our recent publications, slide sets and colorful note cards, as well as the published Proceedings of the 1984 Coinage of the Americas Conference and information on COAC 1985.

Would you be willing to assist in this important Society function? Our booth will operate from Tuesday, August 20 through Sunday, August 25. Hours of operation each day will be 12:00-5:00 P.M. divided into two periods: 12-3 and 3-5. If possible, I would appreciate knowing which period or periods best suit your schedule. Please call or write me at your earliest convenience.

The Society will be represented this year by Dick Doty, our Curator of Modern Coins. The ANA has graciously assigned us a booth in the Club Midway.

Sincerely yours,

Leslie A. Elam
Director

Dear Roger:

Enclosed is the tentative schedule for ANS Information Booth Hosts at the ANA convention. I have scheduled you for a slot where we are now weak. Please let Dick Doty know if this is not convenient.

Many thanks for your help.

Sincerely yours,

NOTES FOR BOOTH HOSTS

In addition to those ANS members who are listed as hosts on the schedule, others will come by as time permits. Please welcome them.

The "Hosts Today" signboard should be kept current. If you are unable to find your name in the preprinted group, please create one using the blanks and felt pen provided.

Visitors will be attracted to the booth if the slide show is operating. Slides will change automatically every 8 seconds. To change slide racks, depress the SELECT control, turn the rack to align the zero slot with the file guide and lift the rack. Place new rack on the changer with the zero slot aligned with the file guide. Slides will advance automatically.

Supplies of the various leaflets and flyers should be kept in sight on the front table. Please use smallish piles to discourage waste.

The ANS publications, handbooks and post cards should also be prominently displayed. These are for inspection only and should not be removed from the booth area.

Visitors expressing interest in ANS membership should be encouraged to take a Membership Information packet which includes an application form.

Visitors who wish to order Society publications or gift items should be encouraged to write directly to the ANS. Please do not write orders or collect money.

At 5 P.M. closing, please take slide projector unit, books, sign, etc. off the front table and store them under the covered table.

We hope that you will take the time to read the Guide to User Services - it contains information which we believe is of interest to those who now frequent the Society's collections and library as well as to those who are not at all certain how to begin using these great resources.

Above all, we hope that your experience is as enjoyable to you as it is helpful to us.
